Women’s Seder

Thursday, March 15, 2018

7:00 PM

at Temple B’nai Abraham

$36 per person (includes dinner)

RSVP by March 9

Questions: Bernice Garbade

A seder dinner for you but none of the work: Join us for a meaningful evening of spiritual awareness before the Passover holiday.

Why a Women’s Seder?

Passover is the holiday of freedom. A Women’s Seder is an opportunity to celebrate the significant role of women in the Biblical story of the Exodus while also viewing the Haggadah through a feminist perspective. The evening will be one of spiritual preparation for the holiday and an opportunity as women to relax as free people (without the work of cooking or running the Seder).

RSVP By March 9

Back to The Basics
Congregational learning this year focuses on The Basics, with a special presentation on Jewish Holidays. The details are too easy to get lost in. We must recognize — in fact, celebrate — the big picture, seeing the common thread that unites every aspect of Jewish life.

Holidays – What constitutes a Jewish Holiday and why – if they are – important? Led by Rabbi Dantowitz

TBA Book Group with Rabbi Kulwin

All Grown Up by Jami Attenberg
Thursday, March 1, 7:30 PM
Four years ago, critics and TBA Book Group members praised The Middlesteins. As they will All Grown Up. Andrea Bern is thirty-nine, single and childless, a talented artist who detests the soul crushing advertising agency that, nonetheless, pays her pretty well. She hates her life and we don’t blame her, but she still captivates us, evoking our admiration and appreciation as we accompany her ongoing reconsideration of what her life – and ours? – should be about.

Rosh Hodesh with Rabbi Faith Joy Dantowitz sponsored by Sisterhood—The Women’s Connection
The new moon, or new month, is a special holiday that women celebrate together. Join Sisterhood in a warm atmosphere of sharing, learning and noshing to welcome each new Hebrew month!
Monday, March 15, 7:00 PM Rosh Hodesh Nisan —The Women’s’ Seder

Torah Cantillation Class with Cantor Epstein
Are you a Hebrew reader who would like to learn the skill of Torah chanting? It is not that complicated! Cantor Epstein teaches this 6-part class where you will learn the tropes and techniques for applying cantillation marks to Torah text. Our class will culminate in participants chanting Torah on Shavuot morning. Class minimum of 8.

Tuesday, March 13, 20 & 27 and April 10, 17 & 24, 7:00-7:45 PM
Monthly Lunch & Learn with Rabbi Dantowitz

Bring your appetite for learning as well as your dairy lunch! Beverages will be provided! This course is free and open to the community. Register online or call 973.994.2290.

Women of the Bible: Supporters, Victims, Leaders, Warriors, Rabble Rousers! Thursday, March 22, April 19 & May 17, 11:30 AM

History Through Text with Rabbi Kulwin

History through Text is offered throughout the year by Rabbi Kulwin. Taught in blocks of several weeks, each class will also be a stand-alone unit so that an inability to attend all (or even most) of the sessions will not be an impediment to an enjoyable and simulating learning experience.

The Jewish Religion

When I say “Judaism,” I know what I mean, but is that what you mean when you say it? And are either of those the same as what our forebears meant millennia, centuries, or even just decades and years ago? Ever since Abraham, Judaism has meandered, twisted and turned, met dead ends in back alleys and sped forward on straightaways, constantly (and perhaps inevitably) evolving.

In these sessions, we will explore Judaism has meant at different times and in different places. Hopefully, the course we chart will not only educate us but lead us to a better personal understanding of what Judaism means to us.

Liberal Judaism in Germany: Thurs, April 19, 7:00 PM
Orthodoxy: Thurs, June 14, 7:00 PM
Liberal Judaism in America: Thurs, May 10, 7:00 PM
Israeli Judaism: Thurs, June 21, 7:00 PM

The Shrinking Jewish Middle with Professor Steven M. Cohen

Wednesday, March 7, 2018, 7:30 PM

America, some say, has been too good to the Jews. We’ve achieved unprecedented acceptance and success, but personal involvement in Jewish life is ebbing. Synagogue membership is heading down. Despite Birthright, connection to Israel remains key only among older Jews. The strong post-War “middle” of American Jewry is shrinking. What does this mean, and what can we do about it?

No one has thought about this more than demographer Steven Cohen, Professor of Social Policy at the Hebrew Union College and Director of Berman Jewish Policy Archive at Stanford University. A one-time member of the Hebrew University, CUNY and Yale faculties, a National Jewish Book Award winner and twice named to the Forward Fifty, his research has focused on the many forces which influence American Jewry. He was a consultant to the recently conducted Pew Study of American Jews.

In this year’s Bloom Lecture, Prof. Cohen will discuss the Shrinking Jewish Middle, review the good and (more) not-so-good communal responses he has studied, and offer thoughts on what can be done to preserve the health and well-being of Jews in America.

Supported by the Bloom Family Memorial Lecture Fund
