
Temple B'nai Abraham, one of the oldest Jewish congregations in New Jersey, identifies with the totality of the Jewish tradition in a rather unique way, developed in its century and a half of service to the Jewish community. We have done this not only with a recognition of changing needs but of eternal values; worship, study and a strong sense of communal spirit.

The Temple B'nai Abraham community comprises over 3,000 men, women and children. The broad array of religious, educational and cultural activities provides opportunities for worship and learning to members of all ages. The many good works in which the congregation engages, both locally and globally, allow for all to participate personally in the mitzvot of charity and good deeds.

Temple B'nai Abraham is a family. We share our sorrows and our joys, and want to know when special attention is needed by a member of our family. The clergy and the Caring Connections Committee are very supportive, visit the sick at home, in hospitals, or in other health care facilities. When there is a death, members of the clergy are available to console the mourner and provide any necessary assistance during this most difficult time.

The congregation expresses its gratitude to the Silbermann families, Jane and Steven Eisenstat and family, in memory of Miriam and Ben Halper, and the Sisterhood for their donation of the beautiful floral arrangements. Bimah flowers have been arranged by Emerald Garden. Technology for the High Holy Day services has been generously underwritten by Sara-Ann and Robert Sanders.
